Exhibit B Micah Opessa Tweets

 Micah Opessa micahofficial Your innocence was cute once Until I learned you were lying on all fronts. I let you take advantage because I thought you were just damaged. You think you would have learned, I'm not one to sit around and be burned. I'm not passive, just aggressive. Maybe it's time you get the message. 	 Micah Opessa micahofficial Heard whispers in the hall you two are starting to fall But you forgot one thing What about my suffering? It was us who locked eyes first And my heart felt it might burst Who knew that down the road My friend would become my foe Betrayed in the worst way I told you there that day I thought we were meant to be Then you took them from me late at night when you can't stay asleep I hope I'm the Siren whose voice haunts your dreams

& when you finally can't take any more of me & all your efforts to drown out the sound make you weak

I hope that the shallowed breath of your screams reminds you how it must have felt for me
